the determinants of small firm growth The social determinants of health in poverty describe the factors that affect impoverished populations' health and health inequality. Inequalities in health stem from the conditions of people's lives, including living conditions, work environment, age, and other social factors, and how these affect people's ability to respond to illness. These conditions are also shaped by political, social ...

the determinants of small firm growth Social determinants of health, which are defined as "the conditions in which people are born, grow, work, live, age, and the wider set of forces and systems shaping the conditions of daily life", are responsible for most health inequalities. Social determinants are primarily rooted in resource allocation and affect factors at the local, national, and global levels.
