the detonator A detonator, frequently a blasting cap, is a device used to trigger an explosive device. Detonators can be chemically, mechanically, or electrically initiated, the latter two being the most common. The commercial use of explosives uses electrical detonators or the capped fuse which is a length of safety fuse to which an ordinary detonator has been crimped.

the detonator The exploding-bridgewire detonator (EBW, also known as exploding wire detonator) is a type of detonator used to initiate the detonation reaction in explosive materials, similar to a blasting cap because it is fired using an electric current. EBWs use a different physical mechanism than blasting caps, using more electricity delivered much more rapidly, and explode in a much more precise timing ...

the detonator Industrial explosives are classified into "explosives / detonators" and "black powder." "Explosives / detonators," which are inexpensive blasting material with great explosive energy, are useful for "mining" and "construction of social infrastructure such as dams and tunnels." Meanwhile, the combustion energy of "black powder" is used mainly for fireworks to delight the eyes of spectators.

the detonator Een detonator of ontsteker is een hulpmiddel om een op zichzelf stabiel explosief, te laten ontploffen.. De detonator wordt verbonden met bijvoorbeeld een lont of een elektriciteitsaansluiting en geplaatst in of direct bij het explosief. De detonator bestaat uit een kleine hoeveelheid zeer gevoelig explosief materiaal zoals loodazide of kwik(II)fulminaat (slagkwik), dat bij een kleine schok of ...
